

Proteins applications

Animal nutrition applications

Various applications, including:

- Premix & specialities
- Aquafeed
- Petfood
- On-farm feeding

Some of the most common applications include calf milk replacements, aqua feed and canned pet food. Meals containing corn, potato or cassava gluten are valuable sources of proteins for breeders, either used as a pure protein product or as components of protein-rich coproducts. They have a high nutritional value but also offer a high concentration, digestibility, bland taste and palatability.
